

Schemes

Some of the developmental prerequisites of reading include:

One to one correspondence

Matching

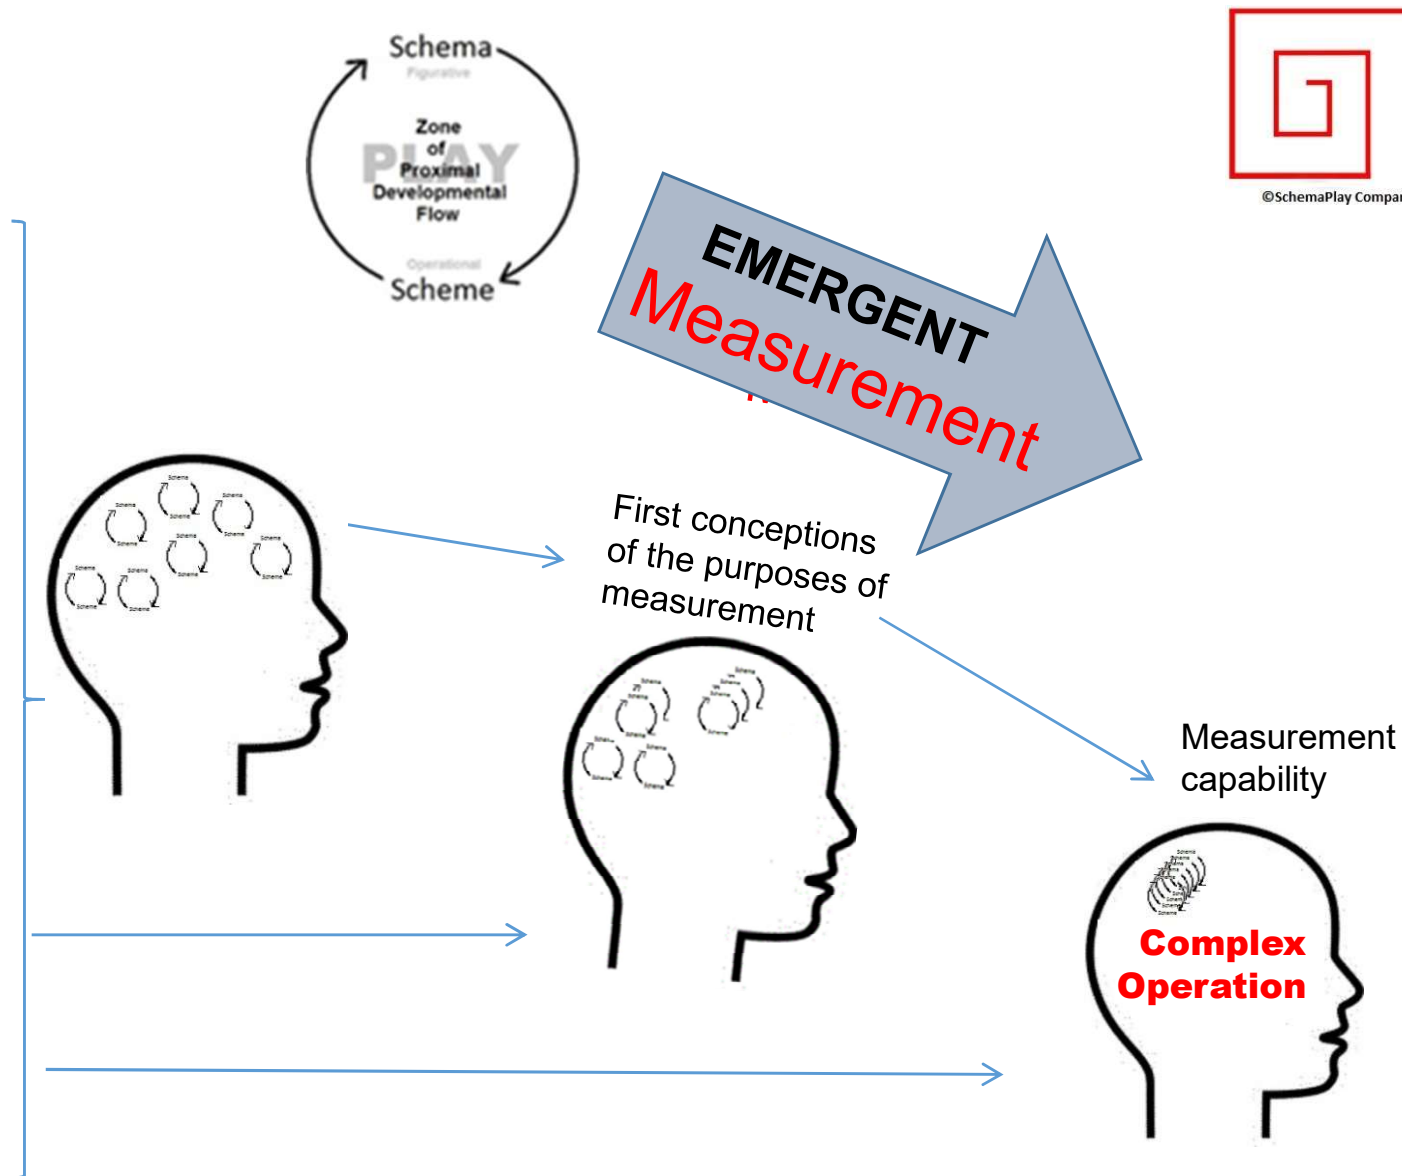

Sorting

Grading

Seriation

Visual discrimination of length and height- noticing difference.

One to one correspondence of number symbol and quantity.

An Emergent Curriculum recognises that the sophisticated cognitive operations that emerge in children are irreducible to their component parts, which nevertheless act as developmental precursors that must be drawn together in the child's mind as a unique and individual creative act.